“ Serrita, I am so sorry for your devastating loss and for the void you must feel. You said something to me a few months ago, that Hugh said to you, "their love is still there even if they are no longer." I hope you find comfort in this and know that you were deeply loved, respected and admired. With much love and our deepest condolences, Veronique, Oliver, Audrey and Fletcher.

“ Seretta, Marge and Jim,

I think you all know what large and positive influence Hugh was on my life. I was talking my son, Grady, about it after getting the call from Jim and I was remember Hugh organizing us all to go to the library at BU and study, before coming back to the room to party. He knew how to have fun, as we all did, but he taught me that there are things worth being serious about. I was talking to my wife Betsy, and saying she had kind of taken over a role that Hugh'd played, looking out for me, I remember, in Boston, walking on a sidewalk somewhere and Hugh grabbing my shoulder to prevent me from stepping into the street in front of a car. Always on the lookout for those who needed a little protection. And of course I remember all the fun, at college and later living in New Haven and going over to Frost Drive for Marge's Sunday dinners, and Hugh and the dog he got, Ralph, who was so much a member of the family. And more recently visits to Skiff Street now and then and Hugh and Serreta looking after all those cats. It's funny, sometimes even after all these years when I've learned a half-baked version of some song on the piano, I'd kind of imagine myself showing it off to Hugh. Hugh would like this one. Turst me, I'll keep playing songs for him.

“ Marge and Jim

My deepest sympathy for your loss of Hughie.

He was a little boy when he came into my first classroom so long ago.

In my thoughts I see him now as I saw him then; kind, bright and quite serious.

Characteristics he clearly projected in his chosen career

My prayers are with you as you carry your grief

“ Serita, Marge and Jim - so very sorry to hear of Hugh's passing. He was a thoughtful, loving man and a role model to many - very much so to my son Daniel, as a neighbor, doctor and friend - first helping out with childhood weekend allergy/ear infection issues and as Daniel grew talking with him, advising and making introductions to follow his dream into dentistry and now oral surgery. Hugh's love, wisdom and guidance helped form the man Daniel is and will be we are forever grateful. A life well lived and a wonderful legacy. Well done, good and faithful servant, Hugh. God bless you all and His peace and comfort to you Linda Kirk

“ My cousin Hugh's strength, courage and concern for others in challenging times has ways been an inspiration to me. And he never complained. I'll never forget the time many years ago when my Father had surgery at Yale New Haven Hospital and Hugh was doing his residency there at the time. While Hugh was not involved in my Dad's surgery he took it upon himself to meet him in the recovery room, talk to the surgeon and make sure he was being taken care of, and this was after probably working a 16 hour day. When my Dad woke up the first voice he heard was Hugh's. Now I was outside the recovery room and had no idea Hugh was even there. I'll never forgot the moment when the doors swung open and there was Hugh, in scrubs, pushing my dad's bed down the hallway to his room, speaking reassuring words to me and my Dad. I'll never forget that moment and I have that image of Hugh in my mind forever, like a photograph. Hugh was one of the great ones, and this is just one small story of many that all who knew him have. Rest In Peace Cousin, you'll be greatly missed by so many.

“ Dear Reilly Family,
My husband and I knew Hugh many, many years ago when he was a crazy bachelor and we had such good times together. My favorite Hugh story, and one that profoundly influenced how I looked at life to this day, was when back in his late 20's or so he announced that he thought he'd go to med school. When asked, 'why, you're awfully old for that!' he responded - "I'm going to be 40 someday anyway, and I'd like to be a doctor when I am!" Brilliant.

Peter and my thoughts and prayers are with you all. He was a treasure.
