“Cathy, my friend who pronounced ‘the New Haven Register’ as “the New Haven Re GIS ter”. It seems I first met Cathy at Western Union on Orange Street, maybe 40 years ago. She had just come over from the Emerald Isle, Ireland and talked about the ‘coal’ town in Ireland she was from, and all her siblings. Then I worked with her at SNET. Different departments, but when we had a strike I would see her at the meetings. And occasionally I would meet her at Irish American Community Center functions. I saw her photo in the Register and recognized her immediately. She was a sweetheart, always happy go lucky, and a good forever friend. I like you, her family, have to be special cause we sure shared a very special Cathy in our lives. I share your sorrow, but have a feeling she followed a direct route to her new home. Blessings to Cathy’s family.
