

Christopher John Carr

May 4, 1968 - July 9, 2022

Christopher John Carr, 54, of Wallingford passed away unexpectedly on July 9, 2022. Christopher was a loving husband to Eileen and a wonderful father to his children Xanthia and Sabastion, as well as his stepchildren Michael and Megan (Sampson). Christopher leaves behind his parents James and Doris, brother Jay (Liz) of Morrison, TN, and a sister Jennifer (Michael), as well as his Uncle Jack (Elaine) and Uncle Dave. He further leaves behind his nieces Jessica (Matthew), Kristin, and Brandi as well as several great-nieces and great-nephews. Last but not least, Chris also leaves behind his best friend Rob Massaro.

Chris was the life of the party, the one who made everyone laugh. His sense of humor and impersonations were second to none. He was an avid reader and loved to write. A sports fan, Chris loved golf. On the course or watching from the comfort of his couch, golf was his game. Photography was another passion of his, especially nature photography and bird watching. Hungry? Another hobby of his was cooking. Best known for his sausage & peppers, chili, and French onion soup, Chris' culinary skills were enjoyed by many. Chris had an attention to detail second to none. As a result, he excelled at his job as a warehouse manager with NWN Carousel.

“ I was very sad to learn of Chris's passing. It is particularly sad when someone is taken from us so soon and when they leave behind so many whose lives they touched and who will miss them so very much.

Chris and I met in middle school and reconnected in high school. For many of those years we spent every weekend together and couldn't imagine being apart: driving around in his Scirocco, going to movies, getting up to all sorts of mischief. I lost touch with Chris after I went away to school. I look back at the times we spent together and it still brings a smile to my face and joy to my heart. He was always quick with a laugh and found a way to cheer you up with joke (often times at his own expense), a funny voice or impression, or a quote that others might not get—but one that never failed to make us laugh. Even though we lost touch I have no doubt if we had bumped into each other as older greyer men, we could have shared a beer and old stories and the years would have melted away and it would have been like it was back in the late 80s and early 90s. I am sad we did not get the chance.

“ It's so hard thinking that you're gone without thinking of the fun times and laughs we shared mostly because of your humor. It's hard to be serious when there were so many funny memories of being with you and thinking of your impressions, songs, and golf skills. It was supposed to be a good day out at the driving range one day, until we realized you could drive the balls farther and with such precision that we ended up buying buckets ourselves and having you drive them. The guy in the retrieval cart probably didn't have that great a time that day and his ears are probably ringing to this day. The carriage jumps, Bob T at the toll booth, the Trident Splitter and Mr. Connell at Stop and Shop, D&D games and unpleasant results of the dice rolls.. You are the one who will make me smile and laugh even through the sadness of your passing. You had that talent. Stories of your classes at CSB driving the instructors crazy with your spot on impressions of other famous broadcasters to your short time in the Air Force when you didn't salute your superior in passing still bring a smile and laugh. We were younger then, and I often wondered what you were up to and it seems you kept up with making new friends and coworkers laugh and remember you as that special friend. Condolences to your family and friends who will miss you and rest in peace. Your memory is what will keep us going. Thank you for everything.

“ I am an old middle school and high school friend of Chris's and was very sad to learn of his passing. Though we lost touch, I always considered Chris a good friend and can happily reflect on how we made each other laugh. We forged our friendship in the chorus at RH Brown school in 7th grade - we sat together behind Gary Walling and we'd keep ourselves entertained by rubbing our feet on the carpet and shocking each other with static electricity. Somehow, I seemed to get more static and Chris told me years later that he asked his mom to buy the same shoes I had so he could get me back with the big zaps! Hilarious! I didn't go to DH Hand High School, but we stayed buddies until after college. He even got me to put on a tuxedo and go to senior prom with his sister and we had a great time. He introduced me to my high school sweetheart, too. Where would I be without Chris? It isn't possible to think of him without a smile. Anyone who remembers me will know me as Sam Smith, but Sam was just a nickname. I'm Ellis Smith and I know that Max and JP deHenaut, and Gary and Mario Walling will have much to echo of what I am sharing. Chris kept us all smiling and laughing, all the time when we were together. It is very difficult to conceive the idea that he is gone from this earth and to convince myself that I can't talk with him again. I am so sorry for his bright influence to wane - but I will always remember him. To all of Chris's family and friends, please know that Chris was and is loved and will be sorely missed! He'll be flying private planes, hosting radio and television shows, and brightening everyone's day in the hereafter. God bless you, Chris. And God bless your family and grant the grace to weather the stormy seas in your wake. I love you, buddy. Sam Smith.

“ It was a great privilege and pleasure to know and work with Chris. We worked together in one way or another for many years but I will always remember and cherish one project in particular. A few years ago, Chris flew out to California for a week to help me with a warehouse inventory project. We flew in a day early and spent a Sunday in Lake Tahoe enjoying the sites, scenery and conversation. It was a very long week, working very long hours (literally over 100 hours) in an effort to meet the objective. I learned a lot about Chris that week professionally and personally. He was a great person and will be deeply missed.

Positive thoughts and prayers for the family and friends....

“ I met Chris through my dear friend Rob. Pretty much from the instant we met the jokes and razzing came out. Right then and there I knew he was my kind of people. I would meet up with them on Friday “guys night” when I was in town and always felt a part of the crew. My thoughts and prayers are with his wife and children, family and friends . This is truly a hard one.

“ Chris we love you brother and we will miss you so much and your awesomeness. God now has a comedian up there with him to make him laugh all the time. I will miss and the intriguing conversations we have always had and miss all the years of great friendship we have had. We will never forget you and we will meet again up there on day.

“ I wish that more people knew how quick witted and funny Chris was. Underneath that mild mannered façade was such a talent. We all looked forward to what each year would bring with the hilarious Wayne and Garth videos. I also enjoyed viewing all of the pictures of birds he loved to take and so happy he got to travel a bit these last couple of years. He looked so content. Chris was dedicated to his work and was a shining example of teamwork and pride in what you do. I loved knocking on his warehouse door and listening to him shuffle slowly across to let me in. I giggle now as I remember that or remember Rob and Chris trying to get Freddy the Forklift up the road loaded with equipment. It's a wonder they didn't roll back down. I especially remember his wedding day to Eileen. They were so happy and she is an amazing partner. While I don't know much about his extended family, I know he loved and was loved. The thing that will forever be in my mind is the friendship between Chris and Rob. They were thick as thieves and supported each other through life's ups and downs. I only wish I had a friendship like theirs. Don't worry Chris. There is so much love surrounding everyone and it will be ok. Carry on Wayne. We've got Garth.
