“ So many memories I scarcely know where to think. Connie and I were neighborhood moms whose kids played together and grew up together. And we were good friends. Afterwards, when, we no longer lived nearby, we met regularly for lunch or dinner, Connie, Joan, and I. And kept up with each others lives. You, her family, have been very good to her always, she liked to tell us what each of you had done for her. You, her family, was her life and she would have done anything for any of you. Tomorrow my heart will be with you at her memorial service, tho I won't be there in person due to the virus. My love to you all.
