“ Craig was President of the Legislative Council when I was employed as Administrator of Planning and Zoning. My first assignment was to prepare, present and defend a departmental budget before the Council. Some of the Council members were a bit harsh, but I will never forget Mr. Henrici's professionalism and kindness. He was truly a Gentleman--with the emphasis on the word gentle. God bless his soul. I am so sorry he was so sick and died so young. May God comfort his family.

“ I first met Craig when he was a DDS hearing officer and he gave me my first eligibility hearing win. He was extremely fair and thoughtful in his decision. Fast forward several years to 2017 and I was pleasantly surprised to find him appointed to leadership at my former agency, P&A, where I had the pleasure of serving under his leadership. Craig, you are missed very much; your kindness, gentleness, and humility are certainly missed in this world.

“ I will always remember the warmth of Craig's smile, and the way he always asked how my family was doing with genuine interest every time our paths crossed. His intelligence, empathy, and desire to serve infused everything he did. As Hamden's mayor and as a private person, Craig was all about care and community. He will be deeply missed.

“ Years ago when he was Mayor, he helped me when my car ran out of gas. Despite that I had told a police officer that was conducting a speed trap on the same road, when I came back with gas the car had been towed. I had to walk several miles to get my car and was charged nearly $200 by the towing company. As soon as I got my car I went directly to Craig's office. He did not know me but took one look at me, disheveled and crying, and had me sit down in his office. He asked me what was wrong and how he could help me. He comforted me and in the end, called the chief of police while I was there. He told the police chief to call me and apologize, Craig had the town reimburse me for the towing. I did not expect any of it to happen, but it did. He advocated for me, and was genuinely concerned about my well being. I will never forget his kindness and support that day as well as his outrage that I had been treated so badly by the town. I am deeply saddened by his death and offer my condolences to his family and friends.

“ I often think about the great times the Weigandt crew always had in CT. Though the years took us on different paths, I always considered Craig a great friend
