“ My sweet, kind-hearted little brother always called me as often as he was able, even when he was so sick. His sense of humor always lifted me up instead of me lifting him up. He loved his family, his wife, his children and grand-children dearly. Our long distance conversations from Connecticut to Georgia were filled with loving memories of his childhood, and his daily life as a father and husband. He was a very smart, and good man and I am so proud of him. I'm so thankful he was my little brother. I am also very thankful that I was given the opportunity to be his big sister. Although, I didn't get to see him as I would have liked, I looked forward to and cherished every phone call just to be able to hear his voice and share in his life and be apart of his family's memories. I know he is in Heaven with a new body, relieved of the pain and suffering that he endured here on earth. He is now with Mama and Daddy and all of the other family members that have gone on before him. Sending my condolences and all my love to his wife, children, grand-children and extended family. Love, Alberta
