“ As a friend of the Halloran family for 50 years, I had the honor and the privilege of knowing Bette Halloran for 35 years. Dave and I grew up together as neighbors, classmates and best friends, virtually from the time we could walk. I spent a lot of time at the Halloran's and hanging out with Dave. I was 14 years old when Bette married Joe Halloran. Today I am 62 years old. Marrying Mr. Halloran and assimilating into the Halloran family of five, including teenagers, must have been a very challenging experience for Bette. Yet, she did it with style, grace, love and real class. Bette was always a kind, considerate, interested, loving, attentive, polite, respectful, endearing and genuinely likeable person. When I became a father, Bette always asked me about my children. In so many, many ways, Bette was a “class act”.

Bette's deep love for the Halloran children, Patricia, Tex, Judy, and Dave, was expressed many times by Bette and was evident to me when she was in their presence. In addition, Bette clearly loved her grandchildren, “Aunt Agnes” and the entire extended Halloran family. I also could see and feel that Bette simply adored Mr. Halloran.

I will always remember Bette Halloran. She was a very special person who made the world a brighter and kinder place. I know I am a better person for having known her.
