“ Janet Waldron was a maternal force of nature who kept the first and subsequent generations of an Italian immigrant family connected together. If one of us hit a bump in the road, Janet notched up a few gears to see how she could help. She enjoyed the finer things in life - music, art, books, Tara's food blog, translating the antics of her pugs for those us not fluent in the puglian dialect, uncovering our genealogical roots in the fading records of southern Italian parish churches, and debating the attributes of the best pizza in Connecticut. Janet was always game for a road trip, with its new horizons and reconnections with friends and family.

We expected Janet to live forever, holding forth and entertaining all comers at Homewood Ave. But God had better plans - eternal rest for her embattled body and an awakening in heaven for her devout soul.

“ It pains me to not be there for Janet and her family now, as she was always there for everyone, but I know proper respects are being paid to a light in our lives which will never go out.

“ Bill, We send our deepest condolences to you, Tara and Todd and their spouses. We were so sorry to read that Janet had died. I have the most wonderful memories of being neighbors and sharing all sorts of adventures with our children as we traipsed across the lawns connecting our houses. We faced similar challenges during those years when our kids were in elementary and junior high school and commiserated on how to handle the various situations that came our way. I treasure those memories and am so glad that Janet was my friend and we got to share so many years as good neighbors. Love, Linda Pawelek and John, too

“ My most compelling memory is of a elegant woman in a long black gown singing and dancing at a New Year's Eve party in her home. I was probably all of 8 or 9, but I thought she was so statuesque! I will miss her smile and her warmth. My heart aches for her family's loss.

“ I am so fortunate that Janet was my good friend as well as my cousin. Our mothers were also the best of friends as well as cousins, and we always treasured knowing that.

I will always remember how I used to look forward and enjoy my visits to Janet in CT and her visits to me and my family in Milford, MA. There were many family weddings and also informal gatherings where we had fun and enjoyed being together.

When we were younger, we used to keep in touch by writing letters to each other, and more recently by emailing each other, because only miles separated us, not our love for each other.

I am so glad I was able to visit with her and Bill in recent years at our family mini-reunions in Florida. I am happy that my children got to know and love her, as I did.

She will always be in my thoughts and prayers.

“ It is with deep sadness and regret that I am having to write this. My heart aches for the loss of such a bright light. I'm so privileged to have had the chance to know Janet. Her humor and personality is what will always stay with me. Whenever Alex and I would visit in Connecticut as children Janet would include us in the conversation, being engaged with us and encouraging us in our endeavors. It is with a heavy heart, and a small smile that I write this while remembering Janet and her shining light.

*Sincerest Sympathies,
Tony Burt*

“ Janet, my dearest friend and confidante; we've shared these 67 years of loving friendship and so many wonderful times breaking bread, celebrating milestones and taking trips with you and Bill; memories that will never fade. Your journey was completed too soon and we shall miss you always. Rest in God's peace, darling girl.

“ So sad to lose my Aunt Janet. She was such a warm, loving, kind and smart lady. I have so many fond memories of her and it seems impossible that she is gone. I always appreciated her loving ways not only for me but for my husband, Brian and our three sons. When I think of Aunt Janet I can always hear her voice, so calm and gentle, logical and positive. She had a great sense of humor and her Christmas notes were very entertaining. We always looked forward to our CT visits and the time we could spend together. You had only to meet her to know that she was so lovely and good, it was a blessing to have had her in our lives. She will be missed.
