“ Joe was the kind of friend everyone hopes they can have in their life. I was lucky to bring him into mine 20 years ago, and I am a better person for it.

I think I can say that he learned some things from me, and I know I can say I learned much from him.

As we get older, we lose friends without surprise, often knowing it was for the best. I can't say it was either of those things with Joe's passing, but I do know he "didn't leave anything on the table," as he said to me in October.

He will not easily be forgotten by anyone, and most certainly my best friend will be on my mind for the rest of my life.

Safe travels on this next adventure Joe, and please, be ready to show me the best routes when it's my turn to follow you.
