“Joyce, or as I know her, Vovo, was the queen of her castle. My Vovo is a shining star in my life, she was always generous, and unconditionally loving to me. She loved a good joke and hosting a party, making sure everyone had a good time. Its sad I wont get to ask her about her exploring NYC, or details about the past. But, I know she lived a full life, traveling the world, and raising a family, and she still took the time to smell the roses and enjoy the little things. I will miss her deeply, and my heart goes out to anyone who feels the same. In the end I am grateful to her, that she taught me to manage money and enjoy the work I do. It is of great credit to her that I am the successful man I am today, and I hope I can continue the love she brought to all of our lives.

She would make my earliest memories of the holidays, tending to guests late into the night. She would make an average afternoon a delight, with oatmeal cookies and cartoons.

She was a leader, the strongest of women, respected at home and at work. I remember wandering A1 toyota as a child as she introduced me to the whole shop, like she was an ambassador to Toyota, lol.

I love my Vovo, for the times she would take me out to eat, always chatting up the staff, ordering Portuguese dishes like flaming linguisa. So charming, and interested in all life had to offer, She could win anyone over.

I will not disappoint her, or wallow in the loss. She loved all of us, and we can all carry on her special way of life. Her sharp character is alive in all of us. My heart is with everyone who was touched by her life and that is so many, her many great friends, to many to list, and immediate family, Uncle Bobby, Teddy, Linda and Laura, even Larry Farrell and Sean Parker. So many lives she touched and so many memories we will share about her, my Vovo, Joyce Hemmerline, lives on in all of us.

“ As neighbors Joyce and I became friends. So enjoyed our talks about life over a glass of wine. She had a positive outlook on life. My deepest condolences to Ted and her family. RIP my friend.

“ Everything Joyce did in life she did with great love and passion. She was Aunti Mame to my children and a great sister in law to me. Most of all she loved her Grandson Brendan and couldn't stop talking about him. her twins Linda and Laura were her heart. So sorry for Bobby and Kathy and Ted I know they will have a void in their lives but they will be left with many happy memories. She will be remembered lovingly by the Farrell family.
